

Save 56,000 gallons of water!

Synthetic turf can conserve water, save you money and look great – if you choose wisely!

"I finally stopped pouring money into my problem lawn – now, I pay less per month for my beautiful, low maintenance Synthetic Lawn"

A good synthetic lawn can conserve tens of thousands of gallons of water each year. It also eliminates the need for harmful pesticides, fertilizers, herbicides and fungicides, while at the same time removes thousands of tires from landfill sites. What's more, you'll never have to mow, it - again. Not to mention all the time you'll save. But just as with any other major purchase, it's important to know exactly what type of product you're getting and more importantly who's going to be installing it. With the growing popularity of synthetic turf, more and more companies are entering the market with lower quality turf.

Too many homeowners find that their expensive new yards lack the appearance and durability they were promised. And all too often, the installers and manufacturers are unwilling to help . . . if they can be found at all.

At Heavenly Greens, we have a lot of experience replacing these low-quality "bargains" with a state-of-the-art FieldTurf system.

If you're considering a synthetic lawn, you can avoid the expense and headaches by coming to us first.

COUNT ON US

Heavenly Greens is not a "seasonal" outfit. They're the leader in residential installations in Northern California, with almost 4,000 satisfied customers and nearly a decade of experience installing synthetic turf not only for residential applications, but have also installed for large commercial and government facilities. They have even installed upscale sites such as Santana Row to major corporate campuses including Google and YouTube.

Heavenly Greens is a Diamond Certified company and a member of the Better Business Bureau. We offer long-term reliability—just like the turf we install.

In fact our turf comes with an industry leading 15-year warranty and with the average lawn using 56,000 gallons of water a year, this turf can save you more than 860,000 gallons with its warranty alone.

FIELDTURF TARKETT THE GLOBAL LEADER

The same qualities that make FieldTurf lawn products so effective for professional sports facilities also make it ideal for landscaping: durability, longevity, and economy. The positive environmental impact of FieldTurf provides the added benefit of LEED (The Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design) building contributions, and a commitment to protecting the environment, providing additional LEED contribution opportunities for customers. The company calls this focus on sustainability and the environment 'Environmental Intelligence' and all company personnel strive to exemplify this philosophy in all aspects of the business.

THINK GREEN

Forget about those "plastic lawns" of yesterday. Compared to natural grass, and coupled with the elimination of the negative environmental effects of natural sod, FieldTurf's synthetic lawn products are the best choice for any green landscaping project. FieldTurf is the answer for areas where natural grass is too difficult to grow, water is limited, or the upkeep – mowing, irrigation, thatching, weeding and pest control – is just not practical.
